Can you help me?

Hello, my name is Travis Johnson and I recently completed a Graduate Certificate in Mental Health through La Trobe University.

Following on from graduation I'm developing the 'Brave Love' project, and I would love your input through a research interview.

Style of Questions

The interview includes 10 carefully considered questions - developed with parents, educators, and youth workers in mind.

The questions explore your experiences of caring for a young person experiencing mental health struggles.

While acknowledging past experiences, the focus is on the future and how potential offerings might increase a person's confidence.

What is Brave Love?

The Brave Love project seeks to build confidence for people providing 'everyday' mental health care for young people.

My main aim at this stage is to determine the most strategic offering that can help build confidence for parents, teachers and mentors of young people who are struggling with their mental health.

I would love to hear your insights through an interview to better understand your experiences, where you currently find support, and where you see opportunities for greater support.

What happens with your information?

Information collected will be organised into an internal report that can be provided upon request.

Any and all personally identifiable information provided will be excluded from the report.

Personal information will only be used to organise an interview and/or to communicate findings and offerings as a result of evidence collected.

UNABLE TO ATTEND AN INTERVIEW?

An online survey can be found on our website:
